

Wellbeing Services

“Remploy’s sales team are excellent, they are always very prompt and efficient when getting back to me with further information, literature and pricing structures that I have requested. They have always explained things to me very clearly and are both patient and considerate of our unique corporate culture at Hays.

We have really appreciated the efforts of Remploy’s vocational rehabilitation consultants, who have engaged with the needs of our business, as well as those of our employee’s. During our more recent referrals, we have found the vocational rehabilitation consultants to be instrumental in assisting us to make early resolutions to our absence issues.

Remploy has also supported us with our policy development surrounding the management of long-term absence and critical illness.”
